BUFFALO LITHIA WATER

MALARIAL POISONING.

ITS VALUE IN TYPHO-MALARIAL FEVER.

USE OF IT IN A CASE OF YELLOW-FEVER.

"Indeed, in a certain class of cases it is much superior to the latter. I allude to the abiding debility attendant upon the tardy convalescence from grave acuse diseases: and more especially to the Cacheria and Sequels incident to Malarious Feeers, in all their grades and varieties, to certain forms of Atonic Duspepsia, and all the Affections Peculiar to Women that are remediable at all by mineral waters. In short, were I called upon to state from what mineral waters I have seen the greatest and most unmistakable amount of good accrue in the largest number of cases in a general way, I would unhesitatingly say the Buffalo Springs, in Mecklenburg county, Va."

PEGRAM'S BATTALION.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO.

Visit to Their Old Battle-Fields-Reminiscences of the Brave Days of the Past-Realistic Rennion.

Yesterday morning the surviving members of Pegram's battalion of artillery, which was composed of the Letcher Battery, Purcell Battery, Crenshaw Battery, McIntosh's (South Carolina) Battery, and Marye's Battery, held their second annual retinion. It was only last year that these veterans determined to celebrate such occasions with formality, but the success of the first attempt was so complete, and so full of rich reminiscence, that the com-mand determined to give even more attention to similar occurences in the future. Accordingly, this year the programme was planned with more care, and, with an eye to real enjoyment, the survivors now organized into what is known as the "Pegram Battalion Association," determined to go out to the battle-fields during the day, look at the grounds they had done so muca to make historic, talk over the old-time stirring events, compare notes, and men out to the battle-fields in his wagons, and at 10:15 o'clock yesterday morning everything was in readiness and the march was commenced.

A four-in-hand team carried a part of the command, and in the front of the vehicle floated the taitered remnants of the old battle-flag of the Crenshaw Battery. No foeman ever laid his hands upon this time honored and sacred emblem. It waved over forty-three battle-fields on Virginia soil, and when the dire hour came it was stripped from the proud flag-staff whereon it had floated so often, hid in the boson of one of the command, and saved from the hand of the despoiler.

The line of march was out along the Mechanisville turnpike, and as the men neared the places made famous in the war their tongues became loosed, and mention of men and events famous in history became frequent. A mong other things, an old member of Crenshaw's Battery told a story about General Maxey Gregg, than whom a nobler and braver man never lived. He said that the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the command was once encamped near Fredericksburg, at the side of the c
